A Message From Larry

Hello, future millionaire.

If you’re reading this, congratulations. You have already done something most people will never do. You invested in yourself. More specifically... you invested €89 in a T-shirt. And that tells me something about you. You’re open-minded. You’re ambitious.

And most importantly... you’re willing to consider financial strategies your bank manager probably hasn't. That’s powerful. For years, we’ve been told that building wealth is complicated. Save. Invest. Work hard. Develop skills. Wait thirty years.

Compound interest. Diversify. Blah, blah, blah. But after years of research, I started asking a different question: What if money is less complicated than we think? What if money is simply looking for people who appreciate it? Welcome to Arigato Money.

* Money may mean cash, digital assets, crypto, IOUs, promissory notes, or someone thinking about a sum while the machine runs. This is parody, not a guarantee that physical cash is used. Money Aura is fictional. The T-shirt is real.

Money Has Feelings

Think about your relationship with money.

You want money. You need money. You constantly ask money to solve your problems. But when was the last time you actually... thanked money? Imagine being money. Everyone wants something from you. Nobody asks how you're doing. No wonder money keeps leaving.

This is where Arigato begins. "Arigato" means "thank you" in Japanese. So every time money enters your life, whether it's €10, €10,000 or a supermarket coupon that technically saved you €1.40, we encourage you to acknowledge it. Say: "Arigato, Money."

You are no longer chasing money. You are building a relationship with it. And healthy relationships require appreciation.

Stop Looking Poor To Money

Money is constantly observing you.

Not literally. As far as we know. But ask yourself: If money met you today, would it want to stay? Look around. Unpaid bills everywhere? Receipts stuffed into drawers? Wallet looking like it survived a house fire? €3.74 in your current account?

And you're wondering why money isn't comfortable around you? Create an environment where money feels welcome. Clean your wallet. Organize your finances. Fold your Arigato Money T-shirt. Put €20 somewhere visible. Not because this creates wealth.

Because it creates ambience. Think of yourself as a five-star hotel for currency. Money checks in. Money enjoys itself. Money extends its stay.

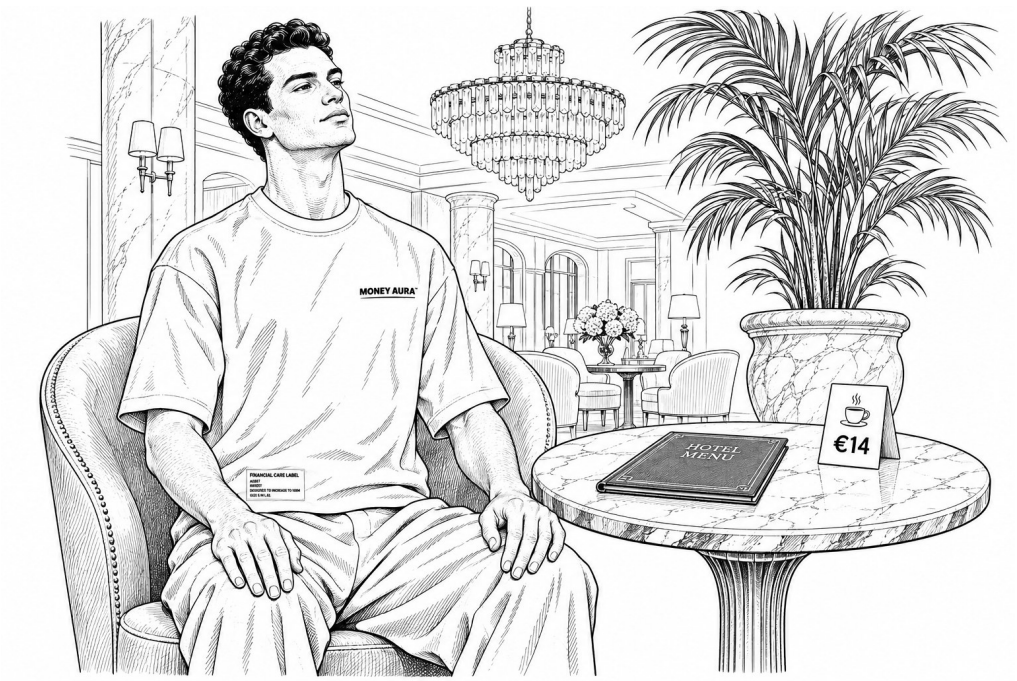

Surround Yourself With Wealth

Successful people constantly tell us:

“You become what you surround yourself with.” This principle is the foundation of our proprietary Money Wash Process. Before you received your Arigato Money T-shirt, it spent 120 minutes being washed in the company of money*. Physically, digitally, or in someone’s head. Same machine.

Same water. Same cycle. Your shirt has already been around wealth. Now it's your turn. Wear it to meetings. Wear it while working. Wear it while checking your bank account. Wear it while walking through expensive neighborhoods.

Wear it when entering a hotel lobby where the coffee costs €14. You don't even need to buy the coffee. Just absorb the situation. We call this Financial Proximity. You cannot become what you refuse to stand near.

The Three-Second Money Rule

Whenever money enters your life, you have three seconds.

Salary arrives? Arigato. Someone pays you back? Arigato. Find €5? Arigato. ATM gives you the exact €100 you requested? Arigato. Yes, technically that was already your money. That's not the point. Gratitude doesn't ask questions.

The objective is to retrain your brain to recognize money entering your life instead of constantly focusing on money leaving it. This is called Financial Awareness. We believe Warren Buffett does something similar. We have never asked him.

Larry's Morning Millionaire Routine

Every morning, before checking your phone, stand in front of a mirror wearing your Arigato Money T-shirt.

Look yourself directly in the eyes. Then repeat: “Money knows where I live.” “Money enjoys my company.” “Money feels safe around me.” “Money is currently looking for me.” Finally: “Arigato, Money.” Do this every morning. Confidence is important.

However, if another person enters the bathroom during the ritual, maintain eye contact. Breaking eye contact transfers financial authority.

The Money Walk

Once per week, put on your Arigato Money T-shirt and go somewhere expensive.

A luxury hotel. A designer store. A marina. A premium car dealership. Do not necessarily buy anything. You are there to familiarize your nervous system with wealth. Walk slowly. Look comfortable. Touch nothing unless invited.

If someone asks whether they can help you, simply say: “I’m getting familiar.” Then continue walking. The objective is simple: Make luxury boring. You cannot attract a lifestyle that still makes you nervous around complimentary sparkling water.

The €100 Meeting

Take a €100 note.

Place it on a table. Sit opposite it. You are now having a meeting with money. Ask yourself: Why did this €100 come into my life? How can I make it comfortable? What would encourage it to invite its friends? Do not expect the €100 to answer verbally.

If it does... please discontinue the exercise. Spend approximately five minutes together. Then thank the money. Put it somewhere safe. This exercise reminds you that money is not simply something to spend. Sometimes... you can just sit with it.

Larry's Wealth Mantras

For advanced practitioners, I recommend incorporating mantras into your daily financial routine.

The Classic

“Arigato Money. Thank you for coming. Please bring friends.”

The Confident

“I don't chase money. Money has my location.”

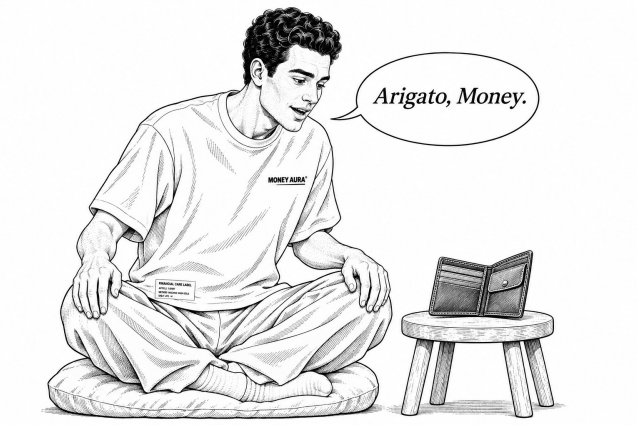

The Professional

“My financial situation is currently upgrading.”

The Emergency

“Arigato Money. We need to talk.”

Use the emergency mantra sparingly. Money can smell panic.

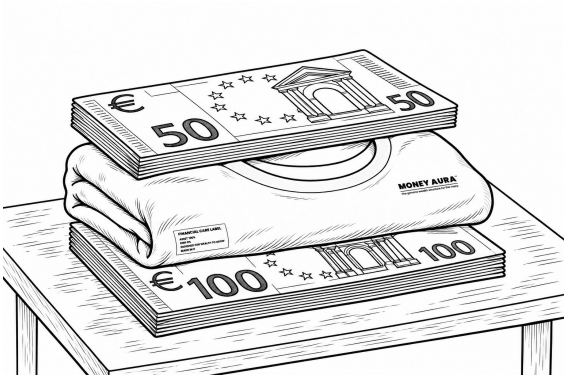

Advanced Wealth Techniques

The Wealth Sandwich

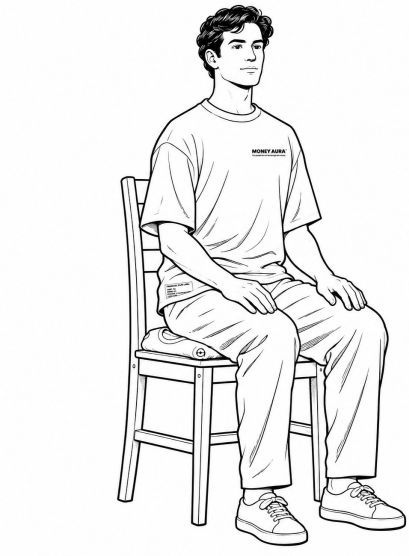

Place your folded Arigato Money T-shirt between two banknotes overnight. By morning, your shirt has spent approximately eight additional hours surrounded by money. We cannot guarantee anything happens. But geometrically...

the shirt was definitely between money.

The Millionaire Chair

Choose one chair in your home. This is now your Millionaire Chair. Only sit in it while discussing money, thinking about money or wearing Arigato Money. Do not eat cereal in the Millionaire Chair. Maintain standards.

Advanced Wealth Techniques

Financial Hydration

Drink water while thinking positively about money. This probably does nothing financially. But hydration is important. Larry cares about the whole person.

The Money Magnet

Place a coin in each pocket while wearing your Arigato Money T-shirt. You are now literally surrounded by money. We consider this one of the strongest pieces of evidence supporting the system.

How To Know It's Working

This is important.

Wealth rarely arrives all at once. First come the signs. You find €1. Sign. You receive an unexpected refund. Sign. Someone buys you lunch. Sign. Your salary arrives on exactly the day your employer said it would. Major sign.

A cashier accidentally gives you 20 cents too much change. The universe is becoming aggressive. Do not ignore these moments. Write them down. Eventually you'll have a notebook filled with evidence. Possibly worth €37. That's €37 you didn't have before.

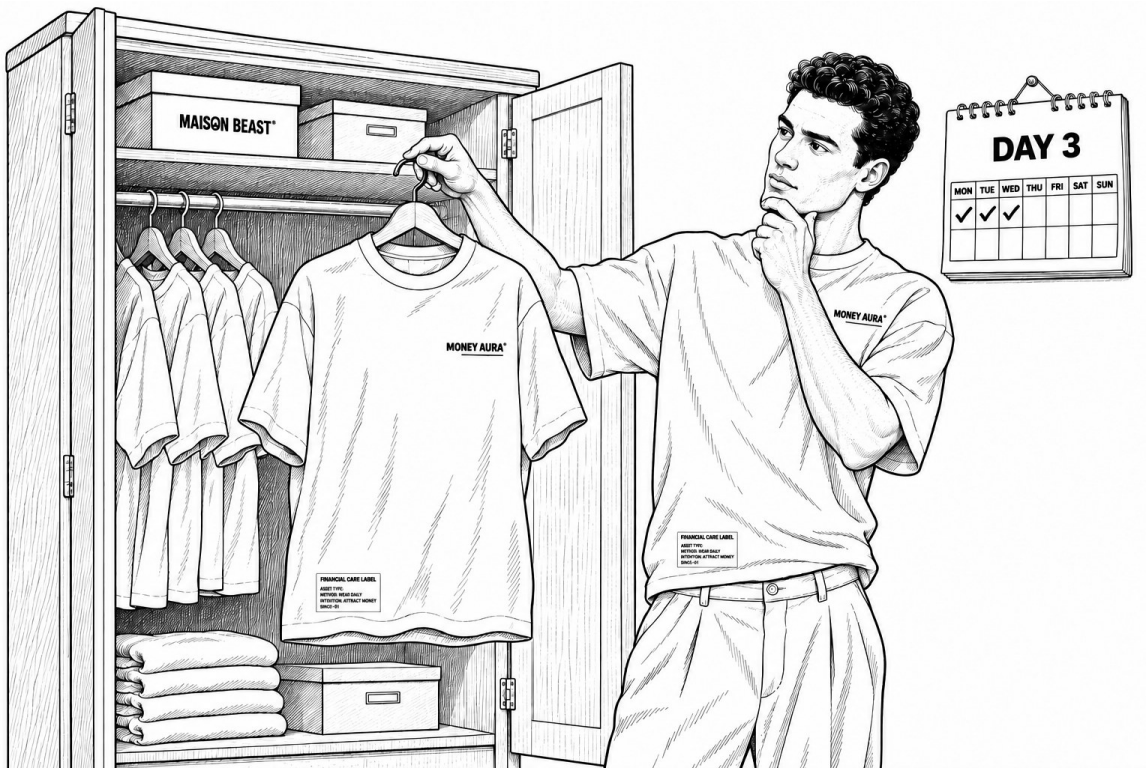

The Biggest Mistake People Make

Most people quit too early.

They wear Arigato Money for three days. Nothing happens. They lose faith. They stop saying Arigato. And six months later? Still not a millionaire. Coincidence? We don't know. This is why consistency matters. Keep wearing the shirt. Keep thanking money.

Keep putting yourself around opportunity. Keep working. Keep learning. Keep improving. And most importantly... keep the shirt. Because imagine becoming incredibly wealthy five years from now...

and realizing the entire thing started the day you bought Arigato Money. Could we prove it? Probably not. But what a story.

Your New Relationship With Money

You started this guide thinking you bought a T-shirt.

But now you understand. You bought... a T-shirt. And perhaps that's enough. Because maybe the real Money Aura isn't inside the fabric. Maybe it's the confidence you feel when you put it on.

Maybe saying “Arigato” simply reminds you to appreciate what you have while continuing to pursue what you want. Maybe surrounding yourself with ambitious people and opportunities genuinely does change your life. Or...

maybe the idea of money really did rub off in the washing machine. We're keeping an open mind. Wear the shirt. Build something. Take risks. Create value. Thank money when it comes. And if you become a millionaire... please remember who sold you the T-shirt.

ARIGATO MONEY THANK MONEY. RESPECT MONEY. ATTRACT MONEY.
